

Federal Judge Rules ACA Law is Unconstitutional

By Lisa Shenduk, Compliance Manager

On Friday, December 14, 2018 a federal district court judge in Texas issued a ruling declaring the Affordable Care Act unconstitutional. This ruling was not placed into effect and is not final. It is expected to be appealed to the Supreme Court and will go on for several months. Pending the appeal process, the most important information that you need to know is that nothing has changed. The current law and all regulations around the ACA still apply.
